Introduction to International A Levels (IAL)

Developed in consultation with the international school community, including a large number of teachers and university lecturers, Pearson Edexcel International A Levels (IAL) are one of the world's most popular, globally recognised pre-university curriculum pathways for 16-18-year-olds.

Recognised by universities worldwide as the pre-requisite entry requirement, IALs are designed to be engaging for international students, and to give them the necessary skills to support progression to higher and further study.

IALs use the popular and flexible modular approach which mean exams are taken at the end of each unit of study, or throughout the programme of study when a student feels prepared and ready, or all together at the end the course.

Why Choose Pearson Edexcel International A Levels

Robust performance with the modular approach

The modular assessment structure offers students the flexibility to sit examinations when they feel fully prepared and ready.

Multiple exam opportunities throughout the year

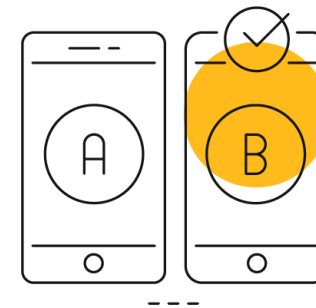

As exams are spread throughout the course, with multiple examination opportunities in January, June and October in most subjects, revision is broken down into unit-sized chunks.

Open doors to world's best universities

Pearson IAL sets the standard for globally recognised qualifications aligned to the British educational system and accepted by top universities across the world.

Stand-alone International AS qualifications

Can be taken separately or used as a stage on the way to completing an Advanced Level.

Designed for international students

Our qualifications undergo a rigorous world class assessment design process, which ensures that the content is relevant for international learners.
